

Question 1

Read the following paragraph and answer the questions that follow:

[3]

A volcano is a mountain. Most of the time, it looks like any other mountain, but now and again it throws out ash, gas and burning rock. This is called eruption.

The melted hot rock that erupts is known as lava. In some eruptions lava comes out slowly and gas comes out in puffs. Other eruptions are like bombs going off.

People living nearby have to run from the rocks that could crush them. The poisonous gases also make it hard to breathe and the burning lava destroys farms, villages and roads. Volcanoes can be active, dormant or extinct. Volcanoes also erupt under the sea. Some people live on active volcanoes because the ash that they throw out makes the soil good for farming. The rocks around active volcanoes are very hot and people use this heat to warm their homes, schools and swimming pools.
